His body was at once taken in charge by a mob, who took him from his captors and brought him to this place. ### Little-Known Dominican City.

Higüey is one of the principal inland cities of the Dominican Republic. Like its native land, it is quaint, historic, isolated, immensely rich in natural resources, almost poor in actual fact, and practically unknown to the world at large. It lies in the eastern half of the republic, which is the least settled, the least developed and the least known. It is a city of some 2,000 souls, the center of a considerable primitive trade and the site of the most famous shrine on the island.

This latter is the shrine of the Virgin of Alta Gracia, which is visited by devotees from every part of the country. The church which houses the shrine is built in the old Spanish architecture, the quaint and enduring style which has stamped its features on the buildings of a continent, from Patagonia to Colorado.

The Situation.

"In regard to the relative condition of the city and the country, the former takes the same stand as the Teutons." "How so?" "It wants peace with annexation."

Temperance Notes

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

THE PROHIBITION SITUATION AT THE BEGINNING OF 1918.

A survey of the wet and dry situation throughout the country, taken by the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist church, shows that on January 1 there were 2,374 dry counties and 615 wet counties. This is a dry gain for the year 1917 of 88 counties.

The year 1917 gave the drys statewide victory in New Hampshire, Utah and Indiana by legislative action and in New Mexico by vote of the people. Iowa failed by a very small majority to make its prohibition constitutional. Ohio reduced its wet majority almost to the vanishing point. New Jersey elected a local option legislature and Kentucky elected one pledged to submission of state prohibition and ratification of the national amendment. New York added 105 towns to its dry list and Illinois closed saloons in the state capital.

The United States Supreme court upheld the Webb-Kenyon anti-shipment law and sustained the rigid Idaho bone-dry law.

Congress voted the District of Columbia dry, passed the Reed bone-dry law, shutting liquors out of all prohibition states; enacted a law prohibiting the sending of advertising of liquors through the mails into states where it is forbidden; enacted prohibition for Alaska in response to the action of the people at the polls; made Porto Rico prohibition territory; forbade the sale of liquor to soldiers and sailors; prohibited the manufacture and importation of distilled liquors during the war; gave the president power to stop brewing to save grain; and submitted an amendment to the Constitution for national prohibition.

HOW TO ENFORCE THE LAW.

"They tell me that the prohibitory law is not enforced," says William Jennings Bryan. "My answer is, elect men who will enforce it! Don't you know that the first thing that the liquor interests do is to name men who will not enforce the law? The man who accepts the nomination from the men interested in liquor must take an oath in advance that he will violate the oath that the Constitution requires him to take. That is the condition upon which they give their support!"

"But I have another answer. If you tell me that we will have blind tigers if we don't have saloons, I answer that if a tiger were after my boy, the blinder the tiger, the sicker my boy would be! If the tiger is blind, my boy must hunt him up; if the tiger can see, he can hunt my boy up. If we close the saloons and they still sell liquor, they do it in the byways and in the alleys, and those who sell are criminals; and those who deal with them do it with shame upon the face."

"If we close the saloons and then elect men who will enforce the law we are not to blame if, in spite of all we can do there may be some selling without a license. We are no more responsible after we have done all we can than we are for the work of a burglar who enters a house in spite of the fact that we have a law against burglary."

HOW THE SALOON PAYS ITS LICENSE MONEY.

Some one may claim that the saloon helps to pay his taxes. This is a great error. Can you squeeze water out of a sponge? If you think you can, go down to the drug store and buy one. I will squeeze it. How much water do I get?

The only way you can get water out of a sponge is to bring the water in a basin, drop in the sponge and let it absorb it. Then you can squeeze some of the water back.

If you want to get money out of a saloon, the only way is to put the saloon down in the community and for every $28,000 it takes from the pockets of the people you can squeeze one thousand of it back in the form of city license. The saloon must pick the pockets of the poor—to pour a thin golden stream of revenue.—Exchange.

NATIONWIDE PROHIBITION LOGICAL.

War efficiency and the liquor traffic have been treated in all belligerent countries as irreconcilable enemies. Every military administrator recognizes it when it inserted in the selective conscription law provision forbidding the sale of alcoholic liquors to soldiers and sailors. And when congress went that far it admitted the logic of attempting to check or abolish the use of intoxicating liquors in every other field of war effort—in the industrial sphere as well as in the fighting zones and the training camps.—New York Tribune.

FOLLOWS THE USE OF BEER.

During the Spanish-American war a group of physicians of this country signed this statement:

"It is not only in the state of drunkenness that men step into danger of incurring venereal diseases, but in the state of exhilaration and weakened self-control which follows the use of a comparatively small amount of alcoholic liquors. This impairment of self-control not only follows the use of the stronger liquors, but may also follow the use of beer."

OUR DEFENSE

In the spring we may be attacked at any moment. Toxic poisons pile up within us after a hard winter, and we feel "run-down," tired-out, blue and discouraged. This is the time to put our house in order—cleanse the system and put fresh blood into our arteries. You can obtain an alternative extract from Blood root, Golden Seal, Stone and Queen's root, Cherry bark, rolled into a sugar-coated tablet and sold by most druggists, in sixty-cent vials, as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This blood tonic, in tablet or liquid form, is just what you need for "Spring Fever," for that lack of ambition. It will fill you full of vim, vigor and vitality.

Chilliness, when other people feel warm enough, is a sign of biliousness, or of malarial poisons—so is a furred or coated tongue, loss of appetite, headaches or giddiness, and a dull, drowsy, debilitated feeling. It's your liver that's at fault. You want to stimulate it and invigorate it with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. With every trouble of the kind, these tiny little things act like a miracle. You can break up sudden attacks of Colds, Fevers, and Inflamations, with fit for Indigestion, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, and Dizziness. They are small and pleasant to take, and the most thoroughly natural remedy. Twenty-five cents at most drug stores.
